

An anti-trauma surgical plate used to fix mandibular stumps.

Abstract

The present invention relates to an anti-trauma surgical plate used to fix mandibular stumps that comprises two lateral series of rings alternated with ribbon-like connection plates and with an intermediate series of balls joined with cylindrical arms.

1. A surgical plate for fixing a mandibular stump, comprising two lateral series of rings alternated with ribbon-like connection plates and with an intermediate series of balls joined with cylindrical arms.